

HERBALISM KIT GUIDE FOR 5E

BY MARIN RADOŠ

SEARCHING RULES

If you search for a specific herb from the table, you must succeed on a searching DC roll from the table of herbs with Survival check. If you generally look for the herbs you may find any rarity depending on how high you roll.

- Example: If you look for a specific very rare plant and roll 19, you don't find anything. If you generally search for the herbs and roll 19, you have a chance to find either common, uncommon or a rare herb. DM rolls d4 to determine which rarity is found.

Before searching, determine the number of hours you will spend searching (minimum of 1). You find d4 plant units (pieces) for every hour you spent searching. If you do a general search you roll a search DC for every hour separately.

- Example: Looking for 3 hours in a Swamp and rolling successfully for a rare plant grants you 3d4 pieces of Smiling Frog plant. Generally searching for plants you get 1d4 for each search roll of the 3.

IT'S NOT SET IN STONE

DM can always tell you if there is no point in searching for particular herbs or any herbs in some places. Please consult with the DM before starting your search. Also, some herbs can be found at the locations not specified by the table at DM's discretion.

CRAFTING RULES

You must succeed on your crafting DC roll with herbalism kit (d20 + Intelligence + PB) when making a potion or you destroy your herb ingredients during the process. On a successful roll you create a potion.

New potions can be added by the DM or by the means of recipes found by a player. Potions can require specific crafting recipes (specific plants, not only rarities) or just the plant rarity.

HERBS TABLE

Name	Location	Rarity	Searching DC	Description
Goose Tongue	Grassland	Common	10	Loose clusters of showy white, flower heads. Dark green leaves with finely toothed margins.
Primrose	Grassland	Uncommon	13	Pale yellow flowers, though white or pink forms are often seen in nature.
Tickweed	Grassland	Rare	16	Elliptic to broad lanceolate ending in a short point, heavily ribbed and hairy on the underside.
Nodding Wakerobin	Grassland	Very rare	20	One or more unbranched stems growing from an underground rhizome. The apex of each stem has whorl of three abruptly pointed bracts, also a solitary flower hanging below the leaves on a peduncle. The flower is perfect, with three slender pale green sepals, three broad white petals and six purple stamens, and a solitary pistil.
Bluebell	Forest	Common	10	The tepals are violet-blue. The three stamens in the outer whorl are fused to the perianth, and bear cream-coloured pollen.
Winterberry	Forest	Uncommon	13	The leaves are glossy green, with a serrated margin and an acute apex. The flowers are small, with five to eight white petals. The fruit is a globose red drupe.
Horse Cane	Forest	Rare	16	They are borne on petioles several centimeters long. They are glandular and rough in texture. The species is monoecious, with plants bearing inflorescences containing both pistillate and staminate flowers. The former are clustered at the base of the spike and the latter grow at the end. The fruit is a bur a few millimeters long tipped with several tiny spines.
Viper's Grass	Forest	Very rare	20	The black salsify plant has heads of yellow ray flowers.
Mountain Spiderwort	Mountain	Common	10	For most of the year, the plant is visible only as long, curving, stiff, grass-like leaves, often protruding through cushions of other plants.
Field Locoweed	Mountain	Uncommon	13	The plants have 8 to 32 flowers that rise from a scape. The actual flowers have five lobes and form a calyx tube. They are of a cream to yellowish color, but sometimes of pink, blue, or purple, with hairs that are usually black. The keel petals are pointed, and often have purple blotches.
Fleabane	Mountain	Rare	16	Small perennial herb rarely more than 4 centimeters tall, producing a taproot. The leaves and the stem are covered with stiff hairs. The plant generally produces only one flower head per stem, each head with up to 35 blue or purple ray florets surrounding numerous yellow disc florets.
White Dryad	Mountain	Very rare	20	The stems are woody, tortuous, with short, horizontal rooting branches. The leaves are glabrous above, densely white-tomentose beneath. The flowers are produced on stalks, and have eight creamy white petals.
Pondweed	Swamp	Common	10	The leaves are produced in whorls of four to eight, with a pointed leaf tip.
Green Milfoil	Swamp	Uncommon	13	The leafy inflorescence is a spike of small flowers which grows above the water's surface.
Twopenny Grass	Swamp	Rare	16	It has rounded leaves, and cup-shaped yellow flowers.
Creeping Ludwigia	Swamp	Very rare	20	The flower has four yellow colored petals nested on a base of four pointed sepals which may be slightly longer.
Sweet Flag	Aquatic	Common	10	It consists of tufts of basal leaves that rise from a spreading rhizome. The leaves are erect yellowish-brown, radical, with pink sheathing at their bases, sword-shaped, flat and narrow, tapering into a long, acute point, and have parallel veins. The leaves have smooth edges, which can be wavy or crimped.
Water Violet	Aquatic	Uncommon	13	Its basal roots are buried in the underlying mud, while other silvery, shiny roots dangle freely in the water. The leaves are deeply divided as far as the central vein, like the teeth of a double comb, and are completely submerged, but can surface after a drastic fall in water level.
Willow Moss	Aquatic (Underwater)	Rare	16	The leaves are quite stiff and are arranged in three overlapping rows. Each leaf is lance-shaped or egg-shaped, with a keel and a sharp point.
Dwarf Vallisneria	Aquatic (Underwater)	Very rare	20	The plants are long, limp, flat, and have a green mid-ridge.
